Three German Soldiere Killed in Repulsing Attacks of Rebel Natives Against Okahandja.

Ibt He Associated PRESS-P.M.]
BERLIN, Jan. II.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A dispatch received here from Swakopmund, German Southwest Africs, says that since January II three men have been killed in sorties from Okahandja against the besieging rebel natives. The garrison at Omarurru repulsed a severe attack January II, and it is assumed that Climmingwe is also besieged. Repairs to the railroad beyond Karloib have been commenced. Okahandja is a mission station, 80 miles from Walfisch Bay. It was reported recently that the Kaffire had effected a junction with the Heceros who were besiefing that place, which was being defended by Liauri, Saulow with 200 man.

Jacob Allen Pays Ten Thousa Dollars for One Worth-less Brick

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WICHITA (Kan.) Jan. St.—
[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jacob Allen of Wellington, worth half a million, paid $10,000 for a lump of gilded metal that was represented to be pure gold.

Allen came to Wichita with one Armstrong, a man who looked like a miner, and who told a story of a rich mine in Colerade and produced the gold brick. The miner proposed that it be tested. A confederate, named Prof. Stone, was found, and went with them to Atmstrong's room, where he applied an acid test. He propounced the gold pure, and said the brick was worth $31,000. Armstrong needed money, so Allen took it off his hands at $10,000. Allen hunted up a jeweler and again had the brick tested. It was pronounced worthless.

without expressing opinions on policies.

The Lord Esher Commission reported with unusual promptitude. Sir George Sydelhum Clark, Governor of Victoria, one of the members of the commission, arrived in England December 30, while the report is dated January 48.

It is understood that all the necessary changes will be carried out with the least possible delay after obtaining formal consent of Parliament, where it is necessary. The report is most practical and business-like. It says it is "unnecessary to make a complete breach with the past and endeavor to reconstitute the War Office with an eye single to the effective training and preparation of the military forces for war;" and again it says, "the object should be to secure for the British empire, with the least possible derangement of the existing machinery, the immediate advantages which a general staff conferred upon Germany."

Large Field for Activity in Mineral Possibilities.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) MARSEILLES, (France,) Jan. 21.— (By Atlantic Cable.) The following details of the government mission to King Menelik of Abyssinia, which was led by the United States Consul-Gen-eral Robert P. Skinner, have been ob-

Skinner's party arrived here yesterday on board the steamer Victoria. The American marines and bluejackets who accompanied the expedition were left at Aden, and went on to join the American gunboat Machias. Consul Skinner and the other members of the party are in good health and they speak enthusiastically of the reception accorded them by King Menelik. On the way to the coast, the party saw one elephant and heard a number of lions, but experienced no szciting adventure. way to the coast, the party saw one elephant and heard a number of llons, but experienced no exciting adventure. In the course of an interview, Mr. Skinner said: "President Roosevelt selected a most opportune time for establishing relations with Ethiopia, as Americans heretofore have been too indifferent to the remarkable development which is now going on in Abyssinia. Our cotton goods pass through many hands before being sold at high prices in Abyssinia, but now Americans have an opportunity to conduct their own trade. King Menelik will send some of the products of his country to the St. Louis Exposition, as well as a commission composed of able men to show the Americans commercial opportunities in Abyssinia. The King is a broad-minded statesman, who will welcome Americans."

During the visit of the Skinner party at the capital, King Menelik received them, surrounded by an imposing assemblage of 2000 functionaries. The escort of American marines established a camp called "Camp Roosevelt," which attracted a great deal of interest. The King made a personal inspection of the camp, which lasted for three hours, and after having witnessed the maneuvers of the marines asked one of the men for his gun and loaded and fired which lasted for three hours, and after having witnessed the maneuvers of the marines asked one of the men for his gun and loaded and fred it. This act on the part of the King pleased the visitore greatly.

The Americans were impressed with the assimilative ability of the Abyssinians, Consul Skinner saying that this country is being rapidly modernised, and that new roads, bridges, water supplies, telephones and telegraph lines are being constructed. He considers the Abyssinians the "Japanese" of Africa. He points out, however, that the postal and banking systems are defective and unsatisfactory. The money is on a silver basis. Consul-General Skinner believes that Americans will find a large field for activity in the gold, coal, petroleum and asphalt possibilities of Abyssinia.

An official report of the result of the mission has been forwarded to Washington.

Ilg, the confidential adviser of King Menelik, will return to Abyssinia tomorrow. In an interview he said Abyssinia would continue to do her utmost to favor French interests, but that she was having a serious struggle against foreign influences. He said also that King Menelik intended to prove his good feeling for France by visiting that country during the present year.

Telegraphy Vastly Cheapened.

To reduce the cost of transmitting 1000 words to 10 or 15 cents is promised for the not remote future. It is affirmed that a telegraph system has been invented by which an operator can telegraph 3000 words a minute. By means of it a business man in New York may dictate to his stenographer a letter of 1000 words, addressed to a correspondent in Chicago. The stenographer writes the letter on a tape, punching out the characters with a machine having a keyboard resembling that of the typewriter. A messenger takes the tape to the telegraph office; it is there fed to a machine, and the letter of 1000 words is transmitted to and printed on a tape in Chicago in exactly one minute. The tape is then delivered to the New York man's correspondent, and his stenographer copies it out. This invention is known as the automatic machine telegraph. It is almost too much to believe, but as the inventor, P. B. Delaney, is the electrical engineer who invented the multiplex telegraph system, by which six messages can be telegraphed over a single wire at the same time, it may be true.—

Twentieth Century Evangelism

The Memorial Baptist Church, A Sunday morning, Rev. C. C. Pierce preached on "The Twentieth Century Evangelism," taking for his text. Acts il, 47.

He said in part: "Two things strike in the New Testament conception of personal salvation, and this is first, that salvation is a process, which continues forever after clut the believer, has come into here it a being saved, and ascond, that the work of the church to bring men to the truth as it is in Christ, is something that is to have no cessation. Those who are being saved, come into the church day by day.

To become a disciple of Christia is and the saved, come into the church day by day.

To become a disciple of Christia is the two fundamental things which are tith century, as something considerably different than the evangelism of the past. I refer rather the century, as something considerably different than the evangelism of the New Testament evangelism of the New Testament evangelism of the New Testament evangelism, as contrasted this her the company of the dawn of the nineteenth century.

There are three chings and the New Testament evangelism, as contrasted the work of the present century, as they characterized the evangelism of the Properson of the contrast of the contras tion to God. He is not merely our Cre-ator and Preserver, but is the loving Father of the children of men. Over them he exercises a loving watch-care and upon them he pours forth abun-dant blessings. Day by day he dis-penses to man of His infinite fullness tion of his own nature is an infinite blessing to him.

"Jesus restores to man a right relation to God. He is not merely our Creator and Patenthal and the state of the work of the restoration was an exercises a loving watch-care and upon them he pours forth abundant blessings. Day by day he dispenses to man of His infinite fullness and there comises to man no sweeter experience than the consciousness of a Father's love and mercy. This is God's world and we are God's children and His law is sufficient for all human need.

"The gospel restores men to right relations to one smother. Growing out of the universal Fatherhocous We are all breth-brotherhoco common nature, common faculities and common obligations. There should not, therefore, be strife between brethren. Life should not be piracy or warfare. Man should cooperate with his fellow men in attaining to the fullest the good things of this world and not prey upon one another with hatred and ill will. Why should brothers strive with one another when the world is full of sorrow that needs alleviation and broken heartian soul. This world is merely the kindergarten in which man is trained for the wider experiences of the future life. God has in store for his children blessings of which they have never dreamed, riches incomparable.

"Such is the restoration work of the religion of Jesus Christ. Who would not come under its sanctifying Louch and feel its divine thrill?"

"Once more, Heavenly Father, Thou hast brought us humbly to Thee. We need to be brought low, for we are foregiful of Thy mercles. Thou hast withholden from us the rain, Oh, God. We ask Thee, in all humility, to send to us the rain. For the sake of the man whap plaint the sect of the firm of the companion of the compa

Dr. Willett preached from Isalah xlix M, in the Orchard-avenue Church yesterday morning. The preacher said that the condition of Israel of old was typical of the state of the church now.

"The Christian church in general cocupies a position at the present time with respect to aggressiveness, liberality and spirituality far belog that which it once occupied. This will not be denied by those who have thought of the charity of the church and her work for Christ in the first century.

"Sentimentalism is a deceptive form of selfishness which fetters the church often leading us to imagine that we are worshiping God when we are merely gratifying a taste for eloquence or music. It values the sermon not for its teaching, but its charm, the hymn for its rhythm rather than its orthodoxy. By all means let us have the richest poetry, the swedest music, the best gifts upon God's altar, but let us take care lest our sentimentalism leads us to seek in the safictuary the pleasure of the creature instead of the glory of the creator.

"Public opinion is another fetter by which the church is bound. We are prone to tone down certain unpopular truths because they grate on the uncircumcised ear.

"One great need of the church at this time is more courage. Courage to exercise discipline without fear or favor; courage to cut off its right hand and pluck out its right eye at the call of duty; courage to cut off its right hand and pluck out its right eye at the call of duty; courage to cut off its right hand and pluck out its right eye at the call of duty; courage to trust in God and do the right.

"But deliverance will gome. Sentiments and forms will be subordinated to principles and truth. Instead of strife in the church, peace shall be within her walls, and brethren shall dwell together in unity. The Lord's treasury shall again be filled and Christians will equal in liberality those who brought their want has prethren shall dwell together in unity. The Lord's treasury shall again be filled and Christians will equal who wants to work can find work to do, and if the work is well done, it will open the way to better work.

"A man should choose his work unselfishly, not for what he can get, but for what he can do. A molern teacher says that science asks whence we came, and theology where we go, but the thing of which we are absolutely sure is that we are here and that work is given to us that needs to be done, and we can do it. Hymns of Latin Fathers.

At the First Congregational Church last night the lives and the hymns of the early Latin fathers were treated. The pastor, Rev. William Horsce Day, gave a brief account of each author and of his place in the development of modern church music. The three most ancient hymns were first given. The "Tersanctus" put into modern form and sung to Dykes's noble tune. "Nicea," was followed by the "Gloria in Excelsis." by the choir, in which the ancient chaint was ussed. The "Te Deum" was given in Latin, using the Gregorian music as an illustration not only of the hymn, but of the primitive music used in the church. The other hymns were set to harmonized tunes of later date and sung by the congregation led by the choir and a supplementary chorus composed of the members of the Young Men's Class, the Orchestra Class and the Young Women's chasses in the Bible School.

Mr. Day gave special attention to two of the great hymn writers, Ambrose and Fortunatus. Ambrose was of noble family, finely educated and Counsular Prefect at Milan. The people had come together to elect a bishop. So bitter the feeling had become that as civil Governor Ambrose appeared in the church. He exhorted them to leave off their discord and proceed in a Christian manner. A child in the audience cried out. "Ambrose is bishop," and with one accord the people chose him. He gave up his office in the State and prepared himself for the new duties. He was a poet and musical. He put all his accomplishments at the service of the church and congregational hymn singing began in Italy. The best of the hymns of Ambrose that have survived begins—

"O, Jesus, Lord of heavenly grace."

The controversy that is ever new and yet is as old as the church was present in his day, the exaltation of the Christ, or the lower of what men shall think of him. Out of the lofty thought of the Nazarene came Ambrose's sweetest songs.

The last of the great Latin hymn writers of this early period was Fortu-

DECULATION CROP BEGUN

CERTAIN HARVEST OF ASCOT PARK GAMBLING.

Old, Old Story—Young Man Steals Employers' Money to Bet on the Races—Tried to "Make Good" and Worse-Young Wife Crazed.

Poor fool! After losing a small be at the races he tried to win it back by playing a larger amount against the books, and used his employers' money. That is why W. T. Edwards is in jail on a charge of felony embezziement. He has admitted his guilt, and, alhough his friends may try to make good the amount of his peculations, if the case should be prosecuted, his con-viction would be practically certain. Edwards was employed in a confidential capacity by the Parmelee-Dohrmann Company, his duties consist-ing of soliciting orders, and making collections. He was trusted implicitly and handled large sums of money. Two weeks ago be went to the Ascot Park race track and lost $10, money which he had collected that day for his employers. Like many another speculator, he thought he could make that amount back and win something besides. In trying to do so he lost $35 more, and was, therefore, $45 behind in his accounts. A day or two later he again went to the track in a desperate frame of mind. Somebody "touted" him against a supposed "good thing," and he objected the extent perate frame of mind. Somebody "touted" him against a supposed "good thing," and he plunged to the extent of $80 in one race. The horse ha played falled to "show," and Edwards was $125 behind in his cash. Had he gone to his employers and told them the whole story, they would have given him an opportunity to make good the amount, but instead, he foolishly left the city. That was a week ago today. When he failed to appear for work last Monday an investigation was made, which disclosed his shortage, and a warrant charging him with felony embezzlement was issued.

The detectives located him in Escondido on Friday, and telegraphed there to have him arrested. He was taken into custody and yesterday was brought by an officer to Oceanside, where Detective McKenzie of the Los Angeles force took charge of him. He told the officer the whole story. His disgrace is not the most pathetic feature of the case by any means. Edwards has a young wife, who is almost crazed because of his crime and arrest. For her sake it is possible the case may not be prosecuted.

Of course, everyone must have noticed the pallid, sickly, unhealthy-looking children of Southern California—so different from the eastern product. You haven? Well, then you probably haven't been around with Elizabeth where one's hair falls out, where she finds those wrinkled bables of six months old and aged fittle girls of ten.

Nor is this, even, all. Elizabeth complains, further, that the sun of Southern California makes the hair come out, so that she has to regularly pattentiate of mind. What would I not give takes black fog! . But forty is of sunshine! What can you do in ref days of the real California was in I never go cutside the house until after 4 o'clock in the after. . and fog prevail. Those sections, however, have drawbacks of their own. The climate of Southern California is by no means in the same category with such climates as that of the West Indies, or the Philippines, or of some of the Gulf States, where the weather is not only hot and humid, but where the nights also are warm. Here in Southern California the nights are invariably cool, so that there is never a night in the year when a pair of blankets are not needed for comfort at some time before daybreak. The dry, electrical air of this region has also tone; reconstiles such climates as that of the West Inof this region has also tonic properties that impart energy rather than drow-siness. As a proof that this is not exactly an enervating climate, it is only necessary to point to the wonderful progress made by Southern California during the past twenty years, To build up a city from a population of 12,000 to one of 150,000 would be a pretty good achievement for those who live in the most bracing climate on

On top of all this, Elizabeth is forced to admit in concluding her letter, that the climate of Southern California has caused her to forget that she has "a liver, a digestion and dyspeptic tendency" and that she had nerves all un-strung. Surely a climate that will do that for a person is worth risking, even at the chance of acquiring a wrinkle or two, unless you are a very vain young person. She seems to have retained some of the dyspepsia, how-ever, to judge from her letter.

REASONABLE REQUEST.

The Humane Society has made application to the Council to be given supervision of the city pound. The request should be granted. It would be eminently fitting to place in the hands of this society, organized and maintained for the purpose of preventing cruelty to animals, the care and supervision of animals arrested and sent to the city's animal lockup. Under the present practice, these animals are not treated any too well, though there has been ne improvement in this respect durnot been straightened out long ere this. In the simple matter, or what ought to be a simple matter, of indict-ments it might be well for the legal fraternity to go to school for a few ing the past few years.

The principal sufferers are dogs. Formerly these poor animals were locked up in a small enclosure without food for up in a small enclosure without food for some days, and when the time came to take their lives, it was done by a man with a gun, who shot the helpless beasts to death, one by one—more than one shot often being required to end the life of a single animal, which, after being wounded, would shrink out of range behind some of its miserable companions, only to be hit again by the relentless bullets sooner or later. The mental suffering caused to the condemned dogs by this barbarous method was said by those who had witnessed the slaughter, to be pitiable in the exthe slaughter, to be pitiable in the ex-treme, as each waited his turn, fully realizing, as shown by evidences of ab-ject terror; the certainty of his fate. Thanks to the efforts of humane persons who interested themselves in the matter, this unexpressibly cruel and shameful method of inflicting the death penalty upon living beings (guilty of no offense save the offense of mere existence in a world which denied them the right to live,) was changed to the more humane method of death by as-phyxiation. Thus did Los Angeles make one distinct step from barbarism toward civilization. Another step in the same direction will have been achieved when the supervision of the pound shall have been turned over to the Humane Society, which will see to it that dogs and other animals taken there are treated with the care and kindness to sword. which they are entitled, out of consideration of common decency and human-ity. The request of the Humane So-clety is reasonable, and there will probably be no hesitancy on the part of the Council in acceding to it.

VIENNA. Jan. 31.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The efforts of the Municipal Council to refuce the price of meat to the people of Vienna by securing the importation of transatlantic meat products, are meeting with very strong opposition from the Agrarian Interesta. Associations of farmers and cattlemen and peasants' unions throughout Austria have addressed telegrams of protest to the Ministry of the Interior and the City Council, urging that irreparable damage would be done to the agricultural interests of the country if meat from the other side of the Atlantic were permitted.

Butchers of Vienna, being opposed to the sale of foreign meat, the Pork Butchers' Association has taken up the matter, and now amounce that the first shipment of Argentine beef to Vienna will arrive here next Tuesday. It appears to be very doubtful, however, whether the government would permit this shipment to be scid.

During the past few days agents of prominent American packing-houses have been investigating the local situation, but they appear to think that the present is not a favorable time to enter the Austrian market.

Wagonload of New Grain Sacks Secured by Thief.

Woman's Talk Fascinated Guardian of Place.

With the assistance of a woman, a burglar made a successful raid upon the Keystone Milling Company's plant at Third and San Pedro streets yes-terday morning and carried of 500 new grain sacks in a wagon. The woman's part in the crime was to look after the night watchman while her male companion did the stealing. When he had secured the booty, the woman parted from the custodian of the place, and it was not until then that the theft was discovered.

The watchman at the mill is named Freeman, and before midnight he noticed a man and woman loitering about the place, but as they kept on the opposite side of the street he could not describe the man. After midnight he started to leave the mill to go uptown, and as he locked the door the woman passed him and asked where he was going. He told her, and according to his story she followed him closely, conversing with him as he walked toward Main street. him as he walked toward Main street. Freeman says the woman did not walk with him, but as to what passed between them the police have their own opinions. At all events, the conversation with the woman caused Freeman to forget all about the mill, and while he was away the woman's confederate broke open the storeroom and stole nearly a wagonload of sacks. When the watchman returned and discovered the theft he found the tracks of a wagon which had been backed up to the mill and loaded, the thieves knowing that the watchman would not return for some time. The police were notified of the burglary, but by that time the thief had had an opportunity to drive several miles away.

Though surprised, the congregation rose to the situation and responded nobly to the call. Each sum in a square was taken by somebody in the audience, no less distinguished a personage than Dr. G. F. Bovard, president of the University of Southern Californis, handling the chalk.

When the morning service closed $6100 had been raised and forty squares remained on the board. Last night Presiding Elder Adkinson preached the doxology was sung and then Mr. Hough announced that twenty of the squares had been bought out by outsiders, and he asked the members to take the remaining twenty. the cases against B. Ballerino and others accused of renting quarters in the tenderloin district have not been decided by the courts.

A scheme has been found which, while clearly an evasion of the law, may through political pressure in high places, result in these forty dens remaining open. A fight is expected by the owners. They well know that those whose crusade resulted in the closing of the owners. They well know that those whose crusade resulted in the closing of the cribs will contest what is to be done today; but the crib owners have prepared for that emergency, they say, and the opening of this first forty is but the beginning.

The plan by which these human leeches hope to again increase their bank accounts at the expense of the fallen women is very simple, and if it is successful, it will be with official sanction of some kind or other. It would not be attempted if there was not some understanding as to what will be done about it, and it remains to be seen by what authority the tip has been given that it is safe to renew "business."

to be seen by what authority the tip has been given that it is safe to renew "business."

In every one of the cribs for which John Heany is agent—the property controlled by Chris Buckley of San Francisco, who receives the profits therefrom—carpenters worked until lyng after midnight of Saturday. In each of the places was placed a small counter and tier of shelves. These "improvements" were placed near the front of the cribs and behind them board partitions have been erected, thus making two small rooms out of one.

These counters and shelves will be used for the sale of cigars, tobacco, chewing gum and the like. In a word, every crib woman will go into the cigar busines today. There will be long rows of "cigar stores" in the narrow alleys and lanes.

It might be of interest to know from whom all the cigars are purchased, and what may be the political influence of the person who supplies them.

That it is all a scheme to evade the law is obvious. What possible profit could be made out of that number of cigar stores, all confined to less than one acre of ground? One of the objects sought is to make it impossible for the police to successfully prosecute the occupants of these cigars for sale regularly, if they are willing to awear in court that that is their business, it may be difficult to secure a conviction in the police courts. This is particularly true when it is possible for such delated that is their business, it may be difficult to secure a conviction in the police courts. fendants to demand and secure jury trials.

There is some question whether these women will have to pay a city license for the privilege of carrying on a cigar business. There may be more in this point than would appear at first thought. If they are required to take out a license, the fact may be urged in support of their contentions that they are really cigar dealers.

No person who knows how money of those women is scrambled for thinks for a moment that they will receive their stocks of cigars free. They will be ordered to go to a certain place, and there purchase their supplies for their "stores." If they do not choose to obey orders they will be denied the privilege of renting cribs in which to become

"stores" fitted up that much work was done there yesterday. Last night the cribs were dark, except those in the two-story dive which Ballerino controls, and to and from that there was a constant procession of visitors. Some of the women in this place were packing up and said they intended to move today to the ground floor and go into the "cigar business."

The fact is significant that only the Heany cribs have been thus improved. Oswald and Ballerino are waiting to see what will be done by the authorities, and Heany has told those close to him that Chris Buckley has "fixed" the matter so that there will be no trouble. If Buckley's new venture is successful, Ballerino and Oswald will follow the same plan, and the result will be that nearly 200 "cigar stores" will be opened in that district.

What will the Mayor and Board of Police Commissioners do about it?

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

T. PETERSBURG, Jan. 12.—Ministerial Councillor Schwanenbach, just appointed coadjutor to the present of Agriculture, is looked upon as the only man in Russia who has a thorough understanding of the peasant situation, and, at the same time, is a hearty sympathizer with the people's needs and ambitions. The Councillor is a doctor of laws of both the Paris and Leipzig universities, and a writer of force on economic subjects. One of his recent books points to the dangers Russia is experiencing on account of the over-burdening of the agricultural class.

The Czar hopes that under Schwanenbach a new era of prosperity for the peasantry will be inaugurated and he told the new high official that any reforms, tending to the material and ethical welfare of the peasants he might propose, will have his hearty support.

Italy, Toe, Has a Postal Scandal.

ROME, Jan. 15.—It now leaks out that the theft of registered mall, lately discovered in the chief postoffice, was committed with the connivance of the authorities in order to hide greater defalcations. That portion of the postoffice where the registered mail and the funds are kept, was left unguarded on purpose, and the burglars had it all their own way. Parliament will order a thorough investigation and the government promises that no rascal shall escape through lapse of time or other "American loopholes," as they are called here.

Teurists New Safe in Sicily.

PALERMO, Jan. 13.—Next summer tourists will be able to visit St. Ily with better chances of escaping the brigands than during the last five or six years, for the chief cut-throat of the island, Mirto, is dead, after terrorizing wide districts for a considerable time. Having killed one policeman and shot three others, the desperado himself was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Seeing their leader dead, the rest of the band lost courage and wavered in the fight, which gave the police the long-sought opportunity of making an end of them. Refusing to extend pardon, they kept up their fusilade until the last of the robbers was dead.

All Must Pay Taxes.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The pitiless German tax collector has a peculiar way of making our Rockefellers, Goulds and Vanderbilts walk the tax-paying plank. Here rich and poor are forced to furnish an annual itemised estimate of their income, each and every evasion being treated as a misdemeanor, punishable with jail. On top of this, millionaire and pauper alike is asked to swear to the facts furnished, and if, by any chance, they are found to be incorrect, the offender is sent to the penitentiary for perfury.

Of the two million Berliners, 432,283 are taxpayers, and among them 158 have confessed this year that their income is above $61,000 per year. One hundred and eleven said they earned between $60,000 and $125,000 per year, and 33 gave their income as between $130,000 and $250,000, while 14 said that their income exceeded $250,000 per year. The biggest taxpayer in Berlin confesses to a yearly income of nearly $750,000.

Famous Portrait Found.

MUNSTER (Westphalia) Jan. 14. In an old palace belonging to a noble family that just died out, the celebrated David portrait of Marie Antoinette of the year 1790 was found, after being regarded as lost for more than 100 years. The life-size canvas is signed "J. L. David, 1790," and represents the Queen in the royal purple. Her hair is parted and decorated with roses, one lock falling upon her shoulder. Her neck and bosom are uncovered, and she wears a dress of green material, held together by a large brooch. The identity of the painting is fully established, and its value is enormous, for David's portraits even during his own life fetched a hundred thousand francs apiece and more.

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—The legal term having expired. American sausages are being cremated in many cities of the empire-just now. Most of them were Christmas presents sent to German relatives and friends by parties in the United States, and the new law provides that they be destroyed by fire, not by teeth and digestive organs. The persons to whom these forbidden presents were addressed were invited to attend the jegal act, but the majority refused. Kaiser Talked Away His Money.

VIENNA, Jan. 13.—Isadora Duncan, the courageous San Francisco girl who is traveling about Europe giving exhibitions of antique dances, will devote the profits of her present tour to the founding of a dancing school where fifty little girls will be instructed, free of charge, in the art, as Isadora sees it. The California girl saws she is not interested in her pecuniary success outside of the school fund she desires to raise. Isadora continues to dance barefoot and barelegged, wearing only a single garment, which she wraps around her dainty figure in antique style. She told your correspondent that she discovered in Athens on some specimens of sculpture of ancient Greece, representations of the dances that seemed to her the quintescence of grace and beauty, and that henceforth she would devote herself to their interpretation exclusively. Miss Duncan has engaged a long-haired poet, Baron von Hofmannsthal, to explain her sub-lime motives in the matter of art for art's sake to the audiences, which are small but select.

It was the unanimous decision that an early convention be held for the selection of the Territory's six delegates to Chicago and a call was accordingly issued for the assembling of the convention at Tucson, March S. The apportionment of delegates, made on the basis of one for each fifty votes cast for the last Republican candidate for Delegate to Congress, was thus divided: Apache county, 7; Cochies, 23; Coconino, 12; 3fla, 8; Graham, 18; Marlcopa, 23; Monave, 6; Navajo, 7; Pima, 18; Pinal, 5; Santa Cruz, 5; Yavapat, 39; Yuma, 7. The total is 185. The general sentiment of the Territory appears strongly in favor of a delegation instructed for Roosevelt. No anti-Roosevelt Republicans have declared themselves, though J. C. Adams of Phoenix and W. C. Bashford of Prescott are being pushed for delegates' places by interests that layor a non-instructed delegation. It is probable that Judge J. H. Kibbey of Phoenix will be the delagate selected by the Maricopa county delegation to Tucson.

In recognition of the services of the President in the cause of western water storage, the postoffice at the Tonto Basin damsite has been named "Roosevelt." William A. Bessie Barclay's frequent escapades have been fully exploited in the papers, and her home leavings have been so frequent that it is an old story with the police when they are asked to look her up. Several months ago she went aboard a vessel at San Pedro as a cabin boy. Her sex was discovered only a short time before the vessel was to sail, and she was sent ashore. A few weeks later she ran away again and, disguised as a boy, she ran an elevator and drove a grading team. When returned to her, parents by the palice the Whittier school was seroiusly considered, but her mother decided to give her one more trial, and see if she would remain at home. ASCOT PARK

EASTERN LOSERS HOWL OVER TWO RACES.

Money Was Won on Brown Study and Paul Whaley—Sport Becoming Better Week by Week.

some of the knockers in San Fran-cisco are trying their best to make it appear that the racing at Ascot Park is crooked—that a number of pool-rooms "back yonder" have been beat-en out of a lot of money on account of the races in Los Angeles, and that the game here cannot be depended upon because "somethins is wrong."

did, cause a plunge of any kind on the little filly.

From what can be learned, the Eastern poolrooms did lose money on these two races. But it it was because they forgot that Brown Study might, and did. Improve with every race. She started hers first January 11, at 10 and 20 to 1, and ran fourth to Peggy Mine, Melar and Woodclaim. On January 18 she ran fourth again at 10 and 30 to 1, to Lady Lasca, Peggy Mine and Woodclaim. Then on January 21 she won at 3 and 5 to 1, beating Azelina. Bishop Poole and Hilons. This victory was largely due to the fact that Brown Study beat the gate with a flying start and received a vigorous winning ride from E. Walsh, one of the best jocekys here.

These are the facts, and the roar from the East is doubtless due to the fact that when the Eastern poolrooms posted their ante-post betting they doubtless put up a long price which they did not change, because there was no evidence here that any play was being made on Brown Study.

These races, of course, are past and gone and forgotten, and they are only mentioned because of the evident desire of someone to misstate the facts with the object of casting suspicion on Ascot Park.

The racing at Ascot the past week has been a little better than that during the preceding weeks, for in many of the races better than has been

From all accounts it appears that this "something wrong" is due to the fact that week before last two horses won at Ascot when the Eastern bookmakers were not expecting them to. These horses were Paul Whaley and Brown Study, and all the talk that the knockers have been making is traceable to these two races.

It seems strange to the sports who saw these races that the Easterners should make such howls when very few people won money here on these victories. In Paul Whaley's race on January 19, his price opened at 3 to 1 and closed at 5 to 2, and these figures show that there was no heavy play on him. In the recollection of the writer, the price did go to 4 to 1; but on the report that he had been a good horse around Chicago his post price was 5 to 2. In the Brown Study race, on Thursday, January 21, her opening price was 5, and the closing 4 to 1, and this shows that whatever might have been the "information" sent away to other tracks, there was nothing known here that would, or did, cause a plunge of any kind on the Hittle filly.

From what can be learned, the Easterners and this shows that whatever might have been the "information" sent away to other tracks, there was nothing known here that would, or did, cause a plunge of any kind on the Hittle filly.

From what can be learned, the Easterners poolrooms did lose money on these two races, but it was because they forgot that Brown Study might, and did, improve with every race. She started here first January 11, at 10 and 20 to 1, and ran fourth to Peggy Mine, Melar and Woodclaim. On January 16 she ran fourth again at 10 and 20 to 1, and ran fourth to Peggy Mine, Melar and Woodclaim. On January 16 she ran fourth again at 10 and 20 to 1, and ran fourth to Peggy Mine, Melar and Woodclaim. On January 16 she ran fourth again at 10 and 20 to 1, and ran fourth to Peggy Mine, Melar and Woodclaim to 10 and 20 to 1, and ran fourth to Peggy Mine, Melar and Woodclaim.

BOWLERS DO GOOD GOOD WORK.

INTERURBAN PLAYERS ARE CLOSE TOGETHER.

Two Teams Tied for First Honors in Commercial League—Leap Year Play at Monarch Alleys—Morley's Tourney is Arousing Interest.

The bowling if the Interurban League the past week has been very brisk and all of the teams are doing good work. The Tuxedo team still leads by over 200 pins and last week made the week-ly high team score of 2574. Aside from this the only noticeable thing was the score of 2455 made by the San Pedro team, which is the record for that team. The most consistent work in Legge of the Pasadena team, who averaged 185 in nine games. In the three marches his scores showed a variation of but two pins, which indicates very consistent, steady bowling. As the Sporting News and Ocean Park teams have not rolled the past week the temporary ownership of the Carl Entenman gold medal for high weekly average was not settled. Ed Hollen of the Sporting News team has advanced from sixth to third place in the average's.

LEAP YEAR TOURNEY.

SOME GOOD SCORES MADE. The opening week of the Leap Year tournament now going on at the Mon-erch alleys did not furnish scores up to the standard expected from players entered in it, but something better is looked for this week. Some of the ladies were nervous and had faint at-tacks of stage fright and when they recover from this ague their playing will be different. The majority af them have not bowled in connectition games before where a large crowd was watching the play, and these have an excuse for their nervousness. GAME WITH SANTA BARBARA. The usual Sunday practice of the la-crosse players was held yesterday afternoon at Praeger Park. A chal-lenge has been received from the team at San Mateo, and also one from Santa Barbara. The local players have been very much hampered in their practice by lack of sticks, a con-signment, ordered some time succ appointed to confer with the Paolic Coast managers on the question of setting differences between the big eastern organizations and the Coast League. James A. Hart of Chicago is also here and the two are awaiting the coming of President Ban Conson, the third member of the committee. It is expected that the conference will be held within the next two or three days. The indications are that both sides will make concessions and the Pacific organization will enter into the national agreement.

Enterprising Charlle Relliy who is to manage one of the clubs in the Northwest League this year has already signed a number of men whom he expects to prove a pennant winner in that company. Big like Durrett, the outfielder, Charlle says, belongs to him, as he was taken from an "outlaw" club and is hence free from the Southern League's claim. About this ballmen have some doubt, as it is alleged there was a sharp scheme worked by Northwestern magnates last year to get this man and Hulseman, they being told to sign with one of the "outlaw" clubs and play a day or so, then come over into the Pacific National fold, there being a rule protecting any minor league association club which takes away a player from the so-called "outlaws" whatever his allegiance before. The allegation was made that these men never intended to play with the Portland club of the Coast League, but Relliy thinks he can hold Durrett all right and claims possession.

Charlie is also after Catcher Frary who played with Fisher awhile last year. He has several Northwestern pitchers upon his staff, and may pick up one or two good men here.

Gave Case "Dead Away."

One of the most popular young lawyers practicing at the local bar is James O'shea, a Georgetown graduate, who has met with signal success at the trial table. Recently he represented a negro man charged in the police court with the larceny of several chickens. A fair defense was soffered and things looked promising for the accused until the lawyer placed him on the stand. "Are you the defendant in this case?" said Judge Scott as the negro mounted the steps of the witness stand. "No. sir," replied the negro, with an amazed look on his face, and pointing to his counsel. "I'm the one that stoje the chickens; there's the defendant."—[Washington Times. Gave Case "Dead Away."

This question has been asked by many anglers since the first of the year, and answers more or less plausible have been given to it, the abundance of feed being the principal one. But Billy Wickersham, the local boss of the Morgan Oyster Company at San Pedro, has an original, and certainly not unreasonable, way, of accounting for the presence of the poundane. He is for the presence of the pompano. He is for the presence of the pompane. He is on the ground all the time, and from the nature of his business keeps in close touch with fishermen, and his views are consequently those of a fish expert. Wickersham says:

"The new breakwater is what has brought the pompane inside. Before they appeared in the inner harbor, our fishermen seined great numbers of them outside in the outer bay. I think the fish were coming from the south, as they seemed to be working steadily in shore. When they got close to the coast the breakwater barred their progress in that direction, and I am well satisfied the net fishermen drove them to the mouth of the channel, and a high flood tide did the rest by sweeping them inside. Probably they have found the feed so good that they do not care to leave now that they are in. I know these breakwaters have an ef-

Ray Stannard Baker Discusses San Francisco Case.

New Conditions Which Menace National Prosperity.

Strong Expose of Methods of Labor Unionism.

Ray Stannard Baker, whose articles in McClure's Magazine on the labor situation in several American cities have been interesting features of that publication, turns his attention in the current issue to San Francisco. He presents a lucid, concise and extremely interesting exposition of labor conditions in the California metropolisconditions pregnant with meaning for the people of America. No other city in the country so splendidly exemplifies the characteristic methods of labor unionism, the extremes to which it will go to accomplish its ends, and the vast power it can acquire. This is said with due regard to conditions in Chicago, known as the "hot-bed of unionism," and in New York the field of Sam Parks and others of his kind. San Francisco presents an entirely new and unique phase of the labor problem—one that sounds a clearer, stronger note of warning to the American people than has yet been sounded from any other city in the United States.

cal boss after two or three preliminary trials of his muscle, when he was lifted from a violinist's seat in a theatrical orchestra and placed at the head of the administration of a great city; how his administration and how, pittfully and inevitably enough, he has never led any one nor organized anything.

He shows how that, from political influence, it is only a step to legislative "pull," and that the Labor Council last winter maintained a paid lobby in the Legislature, secured a constitutional amendment and a provision in the City Charter limiting the comployment of all public service workmen to eight hours, and in the city fixing a minimum wage of 33, and secured other important legislation.

Unions are also, through the process of withdrawals, depleting materially the military force which might be brought against them in time of trouble, in San Francisco, most of the companies having been reduced to one-hair val strength.

Then he proceeds to say that Spear cut or caused to be cut all the hair upon his head, wholly depriving him of a healthy, long growth of hair, highly prized by plaintiff, because he is a member of the Yuma tribe of Indians, and, as such, was entitled, by birthright and by oustoms, law and usages of his tribe and people, and the religious rites and ceremonies of the Yuma tribe of Indians, to wear, use and enjoy said hair, and to keep it on his head and shoulders, as a protection from the hot sun and rain, and this plaintiff being of right entitled to all the rights and of the United States government, upon said Yuma Indian reservation."

He says the cutting off of his hair caused him to be injured, in that he lost his standing and credit among his own people and also with the white people. This injury, he alleges, is for life and in credit and business it damages him greatly. He says the court ought to give him $0000 damages, and he asks for that sum, together with costs and attorney's fees.

WITHERSPOON SETTLEMENT.
The grocery store of I. A. Witherspoon, who recently went into voluntary bankruptey, has been sold to C. H. Merrill, a recent arrival from Terre Haute, Ind. The price paid was 75 per cent. of invoice value on the stock, and 75 per cent. on fixtures. With the stock and fixtures valued at $23,000, this will bring the creditors about 40 cents on the dollar. A dividend of 15 per cent. was yesterday declared by Attorney W. G. Irving, referee in bankruptcy.

Violated Their Parole.

Two lads, each 3 years of age, were stopped on West Flifth street about 1 o'clock yesterday morning by Patrolman Kristovich, who saw them riding new bicycles and each carrying a lighted lantern, not a bicycle lamp, but one of the tubular kind. When questioned by the officer, the two children admitted that they had stolen both bicycles and had secured the lanterns off some obstruction in the streets. They did not remember where they had found the wheels and of course did not know to whom they belonged. They were taken to the Police Station where they were recognized as being boys who were out on parole from the Juvenile Court, before which tribunal they had been on account of a previous escapade. They were placed in the juvenile ward of the jail and yesterday were given into the custody of Humane Officer Oliver. It is probable that they will be sent to the State school at Whittier. ALHAMBRA.

ABOUT THE SCUTELLISTA. ALHAMBRA, Jan. 30.—C. A. Day, of Pasadena, horticultural inspector for this distdict, was present at the meeting of the Alhambra and San Gabriel Farmers' Club Thursday afternoon, and by request gave an interesting description and work of the famous little Scutellista, or parasite for the black scale, which is proving itself to be a power for the purpose never before equaled. When planted properly and left alone, it never fails to get its "deadly work" in on the black scale. At the rate of increase of the scutellista and its work of eradicating the scale in two or three years there should be no more of the black enemy of citrus fruits left in Southern California. While the parasite is at work the trees should not be fumigated with cyanide or spdayed with distillate. Another mixture, with sulphur for the foundation, is recommended for the red spider. Inspector Day has planted several colonies of the scutellista in Alhambra and will olant more at the request of orchardists.

OCEAN PARK.

RACING FOR BATH-HOUSE.

OCEAN PARK, Jan. 31.—Two communities, Ocean Park proper and Short Line Beach, are entered in a race to determine which shall first have a bath-house.

According to one of the latest reports from property owners interested in the southern district of what is known as the "sands," if Ocean Park falls to build its proposed bath-house one will be built at Short Line Beach, It is said that owners of property and others interested there are ready to subscribe $50,000 for the construction of a bath-house there provided such an attraction is not located north of Brooks avenue. As this avenue is nearer to Short Line Beach's business center than it is to Pier avenue, it is declared that Ocean Park must look to its laurels. The report further has it that Ocean Park people who have extensive property interests in the vicinity of Brooks avenue and the clubhouse, will subscribe more liberally toward the construction of the bath-house at Brooks avenue than they would should it be decided to build it at Marine street it is believed that this talk will result in arousing Ocean Park people to realize that if they want the bath-house heavy must proceed at once to subscribe to the capital stock of the proposed corporation. According to one of the latest reports

SAN DIMAS WASH SCOURED IN HUNT FOR JONES.

Tramp All Day on Foot and Horseback, but Fail to Get Trace of Aged Wanderer-Two Theories

LORDSBURG, Jan. 21.—In response to the call for volunteers by Constable Flanker to aid in the search for the missing J. B. Jones, the aged man who wandered from Pomona and was last seen in the San Dimas wash, 240 men assembled this morning and started on wandered from Pomona and was last seen in the Sân Dimas wash, 240 men assembled this morning and started on a systematic search. Some were on foot and some on horseback. The whole country, from the southwest to the mouth of big Daulton Cañon, north of Glendora, was covered by the searchers, and they then assembled for lunch. After 'unch they divided into two parties, one company going south the San Dimas, and the rest continued the search as far as Wainut Creek, south of Charter Oak, returning by way of Pudding Stone Ford.

Of the 240 men who started out in the morning, 200 continued the search until dark, but returned tired and footsore, with no trace of the missing man. Since last seen Tuesday by Road Overseer I. S. Wire at the San Dimas wash, the aged man has completely, dropped from view. His disappearance has caused great excitement in this country, and while the officers have exerted themselves in every way possible, they have not succeeded in obtaining the slightest clew to Joner's movements from that time.

Two theories are discussed; one that the old man has worked his way to the vicinity of Los Angeles, and the other that he has doubled back and dropped linfo San Dimas or, Live Oak cañons.

An unfortunate feature in this matter is that only a week ago the government forest reserves were called out in order to cut down expenses. Had they been at their usual posts of duty it is not probable the old man could have wandered into this section without having been noticed.

of the Hotels Yesterday.

"Where will we go tomorrow?" is the question often heard at the desk of Los Angeles' tourist hotels every Saturady night. Thereupon the clerk recites the list of one-day resorts, and how to get there, with politio impartiality, while the tourist agent pricks up his ears and endeavors to "sign up" the questioner for some particular ride that is incomparably superior to any other, even before the besieged Easterner has had time to back off to consult with his family on the momentous question of "whither?"

Yesterday saw the most fashionable turn-out of tourists of the season so far. It was the first outing day of the year.

Yesterday saw the most fashionable turn-out of tourists of the season so far. It was the first outing day of the year.

This year, for the first time, the automobile has become the chief factor in Sunday tourist outings. Automobile touring concerns have sprung up and secured concessions at different hotels for handling the sight-seers, and the red devil, with its tooting horn, is supplanting the towering tailyho with its winding bugie on the observation boulevards of Los Angeles and environs.

Ten carloads of visitors were taken touring from the Van Nuys alone yesterday by the Automobile Touring Company. Many went forth for all-day trips, San Gabriel, Pasadena and Buidwin's Ranch being among the favorite destinations.

Trolley parties to suburban points were also numberous, as well as those about the city in the regular observation cars; and private driving parties, in fashionable equipages engaged in advance, were a special feature of the opening touring day of the season of 1904.

The most unique innovation of the season is the fishing fad. This winter suniform suavity promises to make sait water angling one of the most oppular amusements of the season's category. There is something very fetching about fishing in the blue Pacific on a midwinter's day. Dangling your feet over the ocean from the end of a Los Angeles resort wharf on a Sunday afterneon is quite the thing now—if you are a tourist.

Mount Lowe and Catalina were the most distant points sought by the winter sojourners yesterday and both drew some handsome parties. Horseback rides, starting in the early morning are becoming popular among the younger class of the tourist element; and the golf grounds of Los Angeles and suburban clubs are eagerly sought by the many who have friends in these organizations.

A number of strangers sought the beaches yesterday for the overly of a midwinter dip in the ocean surf. Ocean Park, Santa Monica and Long Beach were crowded with visitors in search of this experiment.

Many special parties were arranged among hetel gu
